Market Commentary

After April's sell-off, markets were broadly flat at the end of May which provided some much-needed relief for investors. Volatility remained high with negative sentiment persisting due to the ongoing Russia-Ukraine conflict, tightening monetary policy by central banks, and coronavirus restrictions continuing in China. The S&P 500, Euro STOXX 50 and FTSE 100 all finished the month up by 0.2%, 1.3% and 1.1% respectively. In the UK, the Bank of England raised the base rate to 1.0% as an attempt to tackle spiralling inflation which has been made worse by Russia's war in Ukraine. Brent crude oil finished the month up by 8.3% as prices surged after EU leaders reached an agreement to ban 90% of Russian oil by the end of the year. The yields on both UK and German 10-year bonds increased by 20 and 18 basis points respectively, whereas the US 10-year bond decreased by 9 basis points. The pound was up by 0.2% against the US dollar and down by 1.6% against the euro.

Key Contributors to Return

Flutter Entertainment's shares increased by 20.1% amid reports that the upcoming review of the UK Gambling Act might be less punitive than expected and after US peer DraftKings received several broker upgrades. BP's shares increased by 12.2% along with the price of Brent crude oil after the EU agreed a partial ban on imports from Russia just as China started easing lockdowns, and with the start of the summer-driving season in the US.

Key Detractors from Return

Shares in IG Group and CME Group declined by 12.3% and 9.3% respectively after industry data pointed to further easing of trading activity as interest rate expectations and energy prices stabilise along with retail participation returning to pre-pandemic levels.
