Market Commentary

Global equity markets performed reasonably in September, shrugging off the continued US-China trade rhetoric. The S&P 500 and the Shenzhen CSI 300 were up 0.6% and 3.2% respectively. Brent crude oil prices increased 7.3% over the month as OPEC and non-OPEC members declared that they have no intention of increasing oil production and as US sanctions on Iran draw closer. In the UK, the FTSE 100 returned 1.1% while pound sterling, a perceived barometer of the progress made on the Brexit negotiations, increased 0.5% against both the US dollar and the euro. This was despite Theresa May warning that the UK would be willing to walk away without a deal and the IMF warning of the potential implications of a no-deal Brexit. The yield on UK 10-year bonds increased by 0.15% and the US 10-year yield increased 0.20%.
