Market Commentary

After April's sell-off, markets were broadly flat at the end of May which provided some much-needed relief for investors. Volatility remained high with negative sentiment persisting due to the ongoing Russia-Ukraine conflict, tightening monetary policy by central banks, and coronavirus restrictions continuing in China. The S&P 500, Euro STOXX 50 and FTSE 100 all finished the month up by 0.2%, 1.3% and 1.1% respectively. In the UK, the Bank of England raised the base rate to 1.0% as an attempt to tackle spiralling inflation which has been made worse by Russia's war in Ukraine. Brent crude oil finished the month up by 8.3% as prices surged after EU leaders reached an agreement to ban 90% of Russian oil by the end of the year. The yields on both UK and German 10-year bonds increased by 20 and 18 basis points respectively, whereas the US 10-year bond decreased by 9 basis points. The pound was up by 0.2% against the US dollar and down by 1.6% against the euro.
