Market Commentary

August proved to be another challenging month for global equity and bond markets, undoing much of the relief from the prior month. Negative sentiment intensified with no end to the Russia-Ukraine war in sight, accompanied by central banks' unremitting hawkish stance against inflation. The S&P 500, Euro STOXX 50 and FTSE 100 all finished the month down by 4.1%, 5.1% and 1.1%, respectively. After months of soaring oil prices in the first half of the year, Brent Crude oil continued its gradual decline and finished the month down by 5.5%. In fixed income markets, yields on US, UK and German 10-year bonds all increased by 54, 94 and 72 basis points, respectively. The pound continued its downward trajectory against the US dollar, weakening by 4.5% and 2.9% against the euro.
