

With the increased regulatory focus on Complex Instruments and the type of investor which may hold these, Credo has released changes within MyCredo which identifies instruments deemed to fall into this category and provide appropriate pre-trade notification when generating orders. These changes will assist Financial Intermediaries in meeting their regulatory obligations.

For further information, please refer to the Complex Instruments within the Credo InfoHub (Solutions → Complex Instruments).

Please do not hesitate to contact your Relationship Manager should you have any further queries.
